

Yangzi Huang (YoKo)

Yangzi Huang (YoKo) is a Chinese psychologist, psychotherapist and a candidate of IPA. She currently resides in Shanghai. Over the past 16 years, she has worked with adolescents and young adults in college as a psychological teacher, teaching psychology courses, and educating students on how to maintain mental health through lectures. She is also a part-time private practitioner who works with adults through psychoanalysis.

Currently, she is in her third year of training at the NCP's (New Center for Psychoanalysis) Adult Psychoanalysis Training Program. She also serves as the leadership of NCP Social Media Committee, IPSO representative at NCP, and the leadership of the APSA Continuing Education Committee.